Chest Drive Passes $54,000; Rolls On Toward Goal

Chest Workers Foresee Victory In Fund Drive

Reports Today Boost Fund Total To $54,415 As $13,219 Is Added

ENTHUSIASM IS SHOWN BY TEAMS

Whirlwind Effort Being Made To Reach Goal Of $65,000 By Friday

Chest goal .....$65,000
Now in .....$54,415
Fifth Report Friday, 8 a. m.

With enthusiasm sky high, Community Chest campaigners today turned their mightiest guns on the $10,000 which stands between their subscribed total of $54,415 and their drive objective of $65,000.

The rolled out the heavy artillery after nine of the campaign's 11 divisions reported an additional sum of $13,219.58 at their fourth report breakfast in The Castleton this morning.

Hope To Pass Goal

Those in command voiced the hope that the fifth breakfast tally Friday, October 24, would send the figure to $65,000 or near it, and the workers cheerfully indicated that will be so.

Today's grand total given stands at $54,415.91. Never in the history of local Chest campaigns has a fourth report brought in such a sizable encouraging sum as the $13,219.58 chalked up today.

Judge W. Walter Braham, campaign chairman, was right when he declared:

"There's one thing about the drive this year—there's never been one flop day."

Among the eggs brought into a store on East Lutton street a few days ago was a large hen egg, with a perfect shell and within it.

Motorists who have had occasion to be out on the road at night the last two nights have found driving conditions extremely difficult. A heavy fog has hung over the western Pennsylvania district.

Earl Klinefelter, of 121 East street, has a white French poodle dog, named Queenie, that has reached the quite mature age of 24 years. Mr. Klinefelter has had the dog since she was five months of age. Her sight and hearing has been getting rather poor during the past year. Queenie is still fairly active during the afternoons.

Street car patrons who are in the habit of signaling a car to stop from a half block away along an intersecting street and then making a run of the car, were out of luck on the hills this morning. Heavy fog made it impossible for the street car operators to see more than about a hundred feet from the car.

In case you can't remember, there was quite a contrast between the weather experienced yesterday and that of the same date a year ago. The mercury got down to 22 degrees and about an inch and a half of snow fell the first of the season. Summer-like temperatures were experienced here yesterday.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today are as follows:

Mills, aged 22 years, of R. F. D. No. 2. He died in the New Castle hospital this morning, having suffered a compound fracture of the skull and broken left leg.

According to the story Mills told Coroner T. P. Nugent and Pennsylvania motor police, he was driving south on Route 168 in West Pittsburgh. ### Typhus Fever Rages In Spain

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 21.—An epidemic of typhus fever—the dread disease that has decimated populations and decided the fate of wars throughout history—has struck impoverished Spain, the House of Commons was told today.

Dr. Leslie Haden Quest, a field surgeon in the African and European wars and former parliamentary private secretary to the ministry of health, told the house that the epidemic is "one of the greatest known in European history."

Typhus fever epidemics in the past have resulted directly from poverty and overcrowding. It is particularly prevalent among armies in the field and virtually wrecked the French army in the Crimean War.

Editor's Note: A dispatch from Madrid today told of a decree issued by Generalissimo Francisco Franco providing the death penalty for persons convicted of hoarding, bootlegging or profiteering. The increased cost of living in Spain was officially described as "alarming." Other recent dispatches have indicated an increasingly grave shortage of food throughout Spain.

Germany's battle for Moscow, on the basis of reports from both Berlin and Moscow, today appeared to have reached at least a temporary stalemate. The sweeping semi-circular front to the west of the Soviet capital, where the Germans are said to be using a vast fleet of 16,000 tanks, has jelled in a radius of a little over 60 miles from the Kremlin.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Soviet defenders of Moscow still were reported holding firm this afternoon against the mightiest mechanized thunderbolts the Germans could hurl against them.

Latest reports from the battle front indicated the Nazis have been halted in their tracks.

"With the Nazis using an estimated 16,000 tanks in their drive against the Russian capital—now a fortress—the newest Russian high command war bulletin indicated the fighting still is in progress in the same sectors where it raged all day yesterday."

"Fighting during the night was fiercest in the Kalinin, Moshaisk and Maloyaroslavets sectors," the new Russian bulletin said.

Bill Carries Approximately $6,000,000,000 For Aid To Democracies

MOST OF MONEY TO AID BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The senate appropriations committee met today to speed passage of the house-approved new $6,000,000,000 lend-lease bill which the leadership hopes to have approved on the floor by tomorrow night.

Although little opposition is expected to the huge spending measure, a bloc of non-interventionists gave notice that they will denounce the bill on the floor.

Dangerously Close To War

"I intend simply to show why an opposition is more than ever justified because these policies have now led us so dangerously close to war," Sen. Nye (R) N. D., a non-interventionist leader declared.

Nye, who opposed the bill when it was approved last night by a subcommittee of which he is a member, said, however, that he plans to offer no amendments.

House non-interventionists, when the measure was before the lower chamber, sought to write in a ban against lend-lease aid to Russia but were overruled.

No Organized Effort

There will be no organized support for such an amendment in the senate, but it was believed the anti-Russia move may be made nevertheless. Sen. Reynolds (D) N. C., chairman of the military affairs committee who is now on his honeymoon, has announced repeatedly in the past that he will seek to block American aid to the Soviets.

The bill itself carries $5,985,000,000 for lend-lease aid to democracies. Officials have declared that none of the money is intended for Russia, in any event, but that, like the $7,000,000,000 previously voted for lend-lease, it will go mainly to England with some finding its way to China and smaller allotments to Latin American countries.

In addition to the lend-lease funds, the measure carries some $200,000,000 in various deficiency items, the largest being $120,000,000 for naval ordinance.

CHEST WORKERS FORESEE VICTORY IN FUND DRIVE

Mrs. John E. Elliott and Dr. G. S. Bennett, agreed that not once in this solicitation (now over two weeks old) has there been any slump in worker enthusiasm.

Reports Impressive

Impressive reports came this morning from almost all of the divisions. The mercantile, headed by Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., added $3,020 today. Meermans said "more is coming."

Out of the roaring plants and mills came an additional $4,980, reported by Numa P. Vidal, Jr., vice chairman of the industries unit.

While the industries were assigned a quota of 17,919 to produce, Vidal things they'll top $20,000. Only 12 of all the city's plants have "partial reports" or "no reports" standing against them now. Those 12 are making solicitations slowly and will be heard from, Vidal explained.

Other major divisions which added considerable this morning were the women's and the utilities. They've been doing an excellent piece of work from the start. Others, too, it was stressed, are turning in a first-class performance, but some of the others are working against smaller quotas.

Judge Braham Presides

Judge Braham presided at the report rally. Seated with others at the speakers' table was Mrs. James M. Smith, wife of the president of Shenango Pottery Co., whose employee contributions received high praise.

Mrs. Smith herself, Judge Braham said, also accounted for one check of $1,500—reported in today's contributions.

After all reports were in today, a telephone call brought word that one of the larger industries wanted to add $500 to its total. That $500 does not show in the totals today.

Day's Totals

BERNHARD RANGER IS WOMAN'S CLUB SPEAKER

That there is a lesson for America to learn from the debacle in France was the substance of the address by Bernhard Ranger, former Chicago Tribune correspondent in Paris, before a large gathering of the Women's club Monday afternoon in the Highland U. P. church. From his varied experiences as post commander, Paris department of the American Legion and affiliations with the American community in France, Mr. Ranger has surveyed the broad field of French politics. Audiences with Petain, Laval, Mussolini, Hitler men responsible for the crisis abroad, influenced his perspective.

Mr. Ranger listed as causes for the fall of France, factors against which the United States should guard itself.

1—Lack of preparation heads the list, not only military but political, social, moral and spiritual preparation.

2—Penetration of fifth column to every layer of society and corner of the land. By this means doubt, skepticism and panic were aroused, causing confusion and apathy.

3—Lack of leadership is third on the list and the consequent weakness in the body politic. Men at the top of the government structure lacked loyalty to the dynamic French ideal. The soldiers, while loyal, had no leader to whom to respond.

4—Lack of faith was the final missing link. Lack of faith in France, in her destiny, in her ancient spirit which brought past victories, and in the French way of life.

This picture of the situation in France has its counterpart in each of the occupied countries—Norway, Denmark, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Greece. Just as in France, these nations were not defeated on the battlefield but were overpowered by a crumbling of the social structure from within.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. John E. Elliott, resolutions on the deaths of two honored members, Miss Mary Agnew and Mrs. E. F. Connelly were presented by Mrs. George Ralph.

B. P. W. CLUB GATHERS FOR DINNER PROGRAM

An invitation was read from the Ellwood club for the local membership to attend their dinner in Ellwood on November 4, when they will have as speaker Dr. J. Boyd Tweed of Geneva college. Reservations are in charge of Miss Bigley and Nancy Bechtel.

In conjunction with the meeting on November 3, Miss Bess Galey will conduct an auction of home-made, canned and baked goods. The proceeds to be used for camp purposes.

Discussions were heard on topics given by club members as the closing feature. They were, "Are we really free to teach and to learn?" by Olivia Griffith; "Do we really believe in freedom to worship God?" by Geraldine Fry; "Do we really believe in the freedom of speech and the right of assembly?" by Nora Burke; "Equal opportunities for men and women?" by Ruth Hilborn; and "To what extent are we really free to develop our individual capabilities?" by Rose Barber.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACHING YOUNG PUPIL FRACTIONS

Common fractions cause many children serious trouble. In order to succeed at fractions, the child needs to know, among other essentials, the meaning of one-half, one-fourth, one-eighth, and their relative values.

Before entering school the child may use the concept one-half, and not connect it with the usual numerical symbol.

The child who early learns to play at home to cut, paste and make things from paper and cardboard is paving the way to gain clear ideas of the meaning and values of such simple fractions. Even the child at four, five or six may find a foot ruler fascinating, learn to read the figures on it and to measure in whole feet or such fractions thereof as a half or quarter foot. He may find it fun to measure off and cut a strip of paper four inches long, say, fold it and cut it into two equal parts.

Learning Through Play
He has cut it into halves. It will mean more to him if he cuts another four-inch strip and puts the two halves together below this strip, seeing the halves together are equal to the other strip. Then if he will cut a third four-inch strip and fold it so as to cut it into four equal strips, he will see that the four equal parts together make the whole strip. With a little guidance, he can have in this way a good deal of fun while he is learning the meaning and relative values of these simple fractions. Obviously, it would not be wise to confuse him, by helping him so early to try to learn the meaning of such hard fractions as three-fourths.

The tot who learns at three, four or five to use tools with soft pieces of wood, sawing the pieces, is fortunate. By and by, he begins to nail pieces of wood together and learns gradually to measure these pieces.

Cooking Also Helpful
From these experiences the child learns without being taught the idea of a common denominator, one of the most essential but most difficult concepts of all work in common fractions. Therefore, they are not tempted, as so many children are, in adding or subtracting such fractions as one-half and three-fourths, to add the top numbers (numerators) and the bottom numbers (denominators).

Can you remember that in your early school days, as you had to change values from quarts to pints, inches to feet, or vice versa, you were not sure whether to multiply or divide? The child who has had ample early experiences in kitchen adventures, cooking and baking recipes, meets with no such troubles. He has learned the very essence of denominator numbers long before he needs to use them in arithmetic at school.

The 100 basic addition facts and the 100 basic subtraction facts, which every child will need to learn by heart before he can get on well in arithmetic by the time he is in the third or fourth grade, may be had, without cost, by writing me at 235 East 45th street, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

The only time the kids ever heard Pap complain was when Mother started for the city market after dinner vegetables and landed home with a new gown.

We don't see yet why big trucks should stand in the middle of a street for a long time when there is plenty of room to park at a curb. There are times when there is no parking space when there should be no kick if a car stands for a few minutes if necessary.

WHO DID IT?
A big store was on fire, and a young man cried to an elderly gentleman standing near him: "There's a big fire up the street."

"What?" said the old gent, who was deaf.

"There's a fire up the street," repeated the youth.

"Speak a little louder," was the deaf man's reply.

So the young man shouted: "You know Jenkins' shirt store?"

"No," said the old man. "Who tore it?"

Good Taste

Rev. B. B. Peasant, Editor

"I have just resigned from a secretarial position because I felt that my employer frequently mistook me for his personal valet. That well-known "straw" was when he handed me his hat and coat to hang up. Do you blame me for leaving? It became a morning duty of mine. Just what service (other than general office routine) is a secretary supposed to give her employer?"

Babs.

Answer: Among a secretary's various duties is to keep her employer's desk in order. If there is no office boy to do so, she should dust his desk each morning and see that his papers are stacked in the order of their importance. That his files are kept up to date. She should arrive on time and give him no cause on that account to start the day in an irritable mood. Woman's place in the business world resulted from her reputation for orderliness and accuracy. She is more capable of handling detail than are men; and thus she has made herself indispensable as an office wife. All office details and assistance are her duty. But she owes her employer no personal service. Any man who expects a woman of his social or business acquaintance to hang up his coat and hat deserves no respect from either his office or his household staff. Hanging up coats and hats is a servant's work—not a secretary's.

Question: I have a very small head. What can I do to improve the effect of my profile? What style of coiffure should I wear?—A Reader.

Answer: If your forehead is so low as to be disfiguring, wear your hair drawn back and dressed rather high, preferably parted in the middle (if your nose is not long) and arranged in a pompadour roll on either side. If your nose is long wear a side part. If it is disfiguringly low, you might wear a very short fringe bang to hide the hairline. A good hairline should always be shown off by wearing the hair drawn back.

Question: I am going to have my wedding reception at a hotel. How may I display my gifts so that my friends will see them?—Francie.

Answer: Of course, you should not display your gifts at the hotel. Invite your friends to your home either before your wedding or after your honeymoon if you wish them to see your gifts.

"Hello, Georgie!" he exclaimed. "Cut your finger?"

"No father."

"I just couldn't help myself," he confessed.

"But you just did," she said, with a smile, and sat down for more.

Wheeler Classified As True Liberal
Actions Prove He Is Not A Pacifist
Montana Senator Is Often Bellicose

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Calling Senator Burton K. Wheeler an isolationist may be correct enough.

However, I've heard him referred to as a pacifist, also. The fact is that there isn't a more pugnacious member of the upper congressional chamber. It's doubtful that there's another one as much so.

The terrific fight he puts up against governmental policies of which he disapproves is what gets him called uncompromising names, by the people he's in disagreement with.

I've known the Montana solon ever since the days when he was legal defender of the I. W. W. group, accused in his home state of revolutionary activities, mixed with a homicide or two. It took nerve in that era to appear as attorney for those leftists. He had it, though, and plenty to spare.

It was a thrilling trial, punctuated by testimony like this:

Harry Orchard was one of the defendants. Harry, fleeing ahead of a big posse, after some I. W. W. demonstration in the Bonanza commonwealth, was surrounded in a cabin in the mountains, and intended to shoot it out, expecting, of course, to be killed. It happened that his wife was with him, and Harry advised her to desert him, saying he was sure the besiegers would let her pass. "Oh, I can't do that," replied Mrs. Orchard. "You'll need me to load for you."

But the posse finally captured the pair without any fatalities. You have to hand it to Harry's spouse though as a faithful partner.

The elder Senator Robert M. La Follette considered Burton a good enough progressive to pick the latter for second place on his ticket when he ran for president in 1924, and Burton put up a stiff scrap in the Wisconsin's and his own behalf. It was anything but pacifistic.

Led Court Fight
The battle waged in congress in opposition to President Roosevelt's plan to enlarge the supreme court is of recent date. But Wheeler led this opposition, and did it with sufficient generalship and vigor to win. That wasn't so very pacifistic either.

The story told in Washington that the senator's main objection to lease-lending and to neutrality modification was that he believed them intended to help Russia and that he was hostile to the soviet regime, which is spoken of as incongruous, is spoken of as incongruous.

The federal reserve system reports that there are $10,283,000,000 in circulation in the nation. When the fish and game commission puts 10 million trout in a stream they tell you where it is. That is the kind of RSVP we expect from the FRS.

We don't want to know how many dollars are in circulation. We want to know how many will fall in the front door if we prop the letter slot open.

The draft now is entered on its second year. It has tapped more men than a Greek letter fraternity with a building program but it still won't take a man without teeth.

UNCHARITABLE GOLFING PARSON.
The golfing parson looked away. Unpitying were his eyes of gray. The priest who preaches "mercy mild."

And "loving as a little child" And "do to neighbor as would you wish neighbor unto you to do." Put all his precepts wise aside And unto me a putt denied.

No trace of tenderness he showed. No touch of pity he bestowed. But hard of heart, in manner grim. He scorned the plea I made to him. Despite the solemn words of Paul That charity counts most of all. In selfishness he chose to live; A two-foot putt he could not give.

The golfing parson who believes Less blest the fellow who receives Than he who gives, stood calmly by. Nor once did pity light his eye; Nor once did mercy warm his cheek.

Or bid him words of comfort speak Though much his gift had gladdened me. He would not give that putt to me.

I said: "Good Doctor 'tis your boast The Lord loves cheerful givers most. 'Tis oft you preach on Sabbath Day. Send all you have and give away. Unto the poor the silver gained. In this way Heaven may be attained."

The golfing parson turned his head. "I give no putts!" was all he said.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DOMESTIC NEEDS ALSO

There is a great deal of printer's ink and print paper being employed these days in an effort to acquaint the citizens of this nation of the sacrifices which the Administration in Washington has demanded of the American people, in order that the government's defense program may be carried out. It is all very well to help Great Britain, Russia and China and the other nations being imposed upon by the Axis Powers, but the citizens of this nation are entitled to some consideration. International affairs are highly important; so are national affairs.

There is a tremendous demand for steel. Steel is needed to fabricate ships, airplanes, guns, tanks, in fact, about everything required of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Forces of this Nation, to say nothing of the needs of Great Britain, Russia and China. There are a great many steel plants in this country; there is an enormous supply of iron ore, limestone and coal necessary for the manufacture of steel products and it would seem to the ordinary observer that there was enough steel to go around and still leave something for the manufacturer of such necessary household articles as refrigerators, stoves and general household equipment.

Nevertheless, such plants and as the plant of the Westinghouse Company as Mansfield, O., manufacturing refrigerators, have been crippled because of government order cutting the production of refrigerators in half. Nearly fifteen hundred employees of the Westinghouse plant have been laid off in Mansfield owing to this order. That is not caring for national affairs in the proper way. This is only one instance of enforcing unemployment due to improper curbing of national affairs. The workmen of this country can surely produce enough material not only to care for foreign affairs, but domestic matters.

Along this line, it might be said that the officers and directors of the United States Steel Corporation have reason to regret that the four furnaces of the Steel Mill, the mill itself of the Greer Tin Mill were wrecked, and the Republic would be very glad if their furnace that was located on the westside was capable of being put into operation. Five furnaces in New Castle were wrecked, for the moment, it was thought they were not needed; they were only an idle cost to the corporations.

The Biblical story of Joseph's work in Egypt of providing during the fat years for the lean years that were bound to come, is one that has been too much disregarded; particularly by the people of this nation. Such men as Leon Henderson, however, present sorry spectacles to the citizens of the United States.

Henderson is the man entrusted by the administration to curtail industry, not help it, and why should men having so little experience be entrusted with so much power? The same might be said of Ickes, and many other appointees of the President.

Picture Of African Area Where War May Be Centered In Winter

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many predictions that the tide of war may turn in full force to Africa this winter have been voiced in recent weeks. Some authorities have forecast a major German assault aimed at Suez. Here is another side of the African picture, based on reports reaching Free French headquarters in London and presented by Merrill Mueller, International News Service Correspondent.)

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Hope of an allied offensive across Libya this winter is spreading in northern Africa, according to information reaching Free French headquarters in London today.

And with this possibility in view Free French authorities said, Vichy's army in French North Africa is slowly breaking up.

In the hope of an allied Libyan offensive such as British Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell directed last year, these authorities said, the French army command by Gen. Maxime Weygand is gradually disintegrating.

Weygand's forces were described as turning more and more of their police and defense duties over to the "personal bodyguard" of the Sultan of Morocco—the largest force the world has ever seen devoted exclusively to the protection of a single person.

Furthermore, it was stated, a possible drive by British and allied troops across Libya might once more give Morocco access to the "free world."

Deserting Weygand
Free French authorities declared

desertions from Weygand's armies are increasingly large.

Many of the men were said to be making their way by "underground" routes across the sandy wastes to the Free French front in southern Libya.

At the same time the Sultan's bodyguard, now numbering 80,000 men as compared to the French army's eight divisions—about 120,000 men—is said to be filling with foreign mercenaries.

Reason for the change-over in Morocco's military position apparently is two-fold.

First, French authorities said, it gives Weygand the excuse, in reply to protests from the Axis armistice commission at Casablanca, that the Sultan has a perfect right to reinforce the palace guard, which is not Vichy's concern, since Morocco is a protectorate.

They also said Weygand can point out that it is not Vichy's fault if the Moors have a deep-rooted hatred for Germans.

Influenced By U. S. Position

Second the virtually weaponless French army is being influenced by the strong anti-Vichy position of the United States and by growing American aid to Britain and the Free French. According to Free French headquarters in London, "his influence has increased to such an extent that most of the desertions from the French army in Africa are attributed to it."

Morocco's civil administration is now entirely German-operated, according to these recent reports, and all the country's products are being swept up and exported to Germany via Marseilles.

French business and civilian communities support the German domination, since through it they are retaining their holdings. But, the Free French contend, these communities represent the same "upper-bracket bourgeoisie who ruin metropolitan France," and hatred for them is described as strong among the French Moroccan army.

Ordered Out By Nazis
According to late reports the Italian armistice commission has been ordered out of Morocco by the Germans, who greatly decreased the number of Nazi experts within Morocco since the invasion of Russia.

Prior to this, however, the Germans were said to have warned French Gen. Nogues, the governor that the two and a half panzer divisions in Libya could easily swing west and defeat the French and the Moors, taking the country within a week.

Many Germans in French Morocco are said to have gone to Spanish Morocco to organize the Spanish forces as a stick over the French and the Sultan and to prevent a coup d'etat in the event of a British sweep across Libya.

Letter From France

One French officer, whom I cannot name but whom I have known for several years, recently sent me a letter from Paris, which was smuggled to Lisbon and reached London from there.

It said: "Reports of strong French sympathy—though not fully for Gen. Charles De Gaulle—are well founded. But nothing can be risked unless the British sweep Libya."

"Bled by the German occupation, metropolitan France remains full of Frenchmen thinking more of food, coal for their furnaces, comfort for their families—as the cost of Hitler's peace—than of the national honor... Last winter was terrible but this winter is going to be a thousand-fold worse in human suffering. But it serves to awaken more and more people to the fact that the war is continuing... which emphasizes that one way to help defeat the Germans is from within."

"Vichy does not represent the spirit of the French people."

sistent in him, since his own whole record has been radical.

Now, the truth is that Burt, following the czar's overthrow, was friendlier to the post-revolutionary set-up than he liked to admit.

Shortly after the readjustment he, Senator Alben W. Barkley and the late Senator Bronson Cutting took a trip together to the Muscovite realm to look over the situation there. Upon their return, Senators Barkley and Cutting not being immediately available in Washington, I interviewed Senator Wheeler.

The Russian atmosphere was middling tense, he said, but an improvement on czarism nevertheless. And he predicted that the tense-ness would relax as things settled down. "In short," he concluded, "I wish the Soviets extremely well—but be careful how you quote me, because I'm already considered so darned radical that I'm afraid I'll be denounced as an outright anarchist."

And now a lot of New Dealers are referring to him as reactionary, due to his crossed fingers upon details of White House policies.

Furthermore, because he fights 'em so hard, they describe him as a pacifist.

Well, radical statesmen occasionally do turn conservative as they grow older. Also it's recognized that theoretical pacifists often are in practice, the scrappiest chaps on earth.

A True Liberal

As for Senator Wheeler, even if I don't entirely agree with him as to the 500 per cent isolationism he advocates, I think that, generally speaking, he's the real thing—a true liberal, bellicose, and as honest as the day is long. What's more, he's one of the best interviewees on Capitol Hill.

I admit I'm sorry to see him in Charlie Lindbergh's company; Charlie's mean to newspapermen.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, the neutrality law's author, isn't, though he's a newspaperman himself. And his law was highly thought of when congress passed it; otherwise it wouldn't have passed.

Events haven't transpired as was expected then.

This cablephoto, passed by both the Russian and British censors, is the first to show an R. A. F. officer on duty with the Soviet forces on the eastern front. Wing Commander Isherwood is shown, foreground, peering through field glasses to watch aerial activity over the front. An unannounced number of R. A. F. planes are fighting with the Red air force.

Reds Counterattack on the Moscow Front

This photo, radioed from Moscow to London then to New York, gives a brief glimpse of grim hand-to-hand fighting on the Moscow front. The Soviet censor-approved caption states the Red soldiers are counter-attacking. One soldier is hurling a hand grenade.

Japan Is Facing Most Vital Decision On Future Course

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIGE
(U. S. Marine Corps, Retired)
(Written Especially for International News Service)

With Nazi Berthas almost within range of Moscow's historic Red Square and battalions of the famous People's Army of Russia leaving machine shops and plows to hasten to their capital's defense, eyes of military men and diplomats the world over focus on Japan.

The Japanese army and navy form one of the great unknown quantities of the present world situation. Hitherto they have fought China, but remained aloof from the larger conflict. But what will the Japanese do now that Russia, Japan's historic foe, is beset and buffeted, and the Red army has its hands more than full?

Near Decision

It is a matter of common knowledge among students that the Japanese are ominously close to a parting of the ways. By all the rules of overwhelming probability, the Mikado's government must soon throw in its lot openly with the Axis powers or definitely make its peace with the democracies for the duration of the present war. The decision at which Tokyo arrives will make history.

In the Japanese capital, General Hideki Tojo, newly appointed premier, visits the shrines of Japan's Shinto religion, then calls for "iron unity" in what he describes as the national "cross-roads of life and death." General Tojo is a member of Japan's militarist sect, committed to his nation's aggrandizement by war, but he is not an extremist nor a wild gambler. Hitherto his action have been conservative, opposed to risk unless he considered victory certain.

Principal Headache

Undoubtedly, his principal headache now is to pick the eventual winner of the present world-struggle, get aboard the band wagon and lay out a course that Japan can carry through to triumph.

Three courses are open to General Tojo for his eventual decision. First, he can make his peace with the democracies, accepting such concessions as he can get. There is little doubt that an influential section of the Japanese people would favor this course, but the military clique would probably insist on withdrawal of British and American support to China, which London and Washington could not grant.

Japan's second possible course would be a stroke at Singapore—British Gibraltar of the South Seas—with the wealth of the Dutch East Indies as prize at stake. There was a time when German advisers to the Japanese urged this course, but probably they are singing another tune just now.

Third course open, most probable if the Japanese decide for war, is a drive north for Vladivostok and Soviet Russia's maritime provinces. Such a stroke in Russia's present hour of peril must offer powerful temptation to the Mikado's minister.

Old Ivan Came Back

For three-quarters of a century, since Commodore Perry unlocked the gates of the island kingdom to western civilization, Japan's foreign policy has been aimed at eliminating Russia as a Far Eastern power. At the turn of the present century she beat the czar's armies in Manchuria. In the World War she occupied eastern Siberia. Each time, she thought the Russian bear was down for the count in the Far East, but each time old Ivan came back stronger than ever before.

Japan's decision to strike or not to strike will probably be based, first, on whether her cabinet believes that Russia is really facing disaster in Europe. Next factor in the decision will be how many divisions of the crack Siberian Red banner armies of the Pacific have been withdrawn for service against the Nazis.

Before the German assault on Russia, the Far Eastern Red banner army was reported to consist of about 35 divisions, or in the neighborhood of 750,000 men, with an air army of 2,000 planes and at least four divisions of tanks. This force was built up over a period of half a dozen years under Soviet Marshal Blucher and twice inflicted severe defeats on large Japanese forces in undeclared wars along the Manchukuo-Siberian border. Most feared of all by the Japanese was the threat of its bomber base at Vladivostok.

Ominous feature in reports during the past few days deals with the appearance of masses of Siberian troops and planes on the Moscow front. Each division withdrawn increases Tokyo's temptation.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the navy department.

Town Will Have Double Observance Of Thanksgiving

(International News Service)

DELMAR, Md., Oct. 21.—Thanksgiving is coming twice to this community of 2,200 residents this year because the Delaware-Maryland state line runs right through Main street.

Maryland has bound itself to follow President Roosevelt's proclamation and observe the third Thursday in November as turkey day, but Gov. Walter W. Bacon of Delaware has proclaimed the fourth Thursday as the date of the holiday. So Delawareans are going to eat their turkey a week later than their Maryland townsmen. The two schools—one on each side of Main street—will close on different days.

One of the questions posed by the mix-up is when the annual Cotillion club dance, the big social event of the season will be held. It is scheduled for Thanksgiving eve.

Men, the Navy's life for you! A great opportunity to serve your country, good pay, excellent living conditions, unlimited opportunities for advancement.

Remember when Father used to tinker with his crystal set? You thought it was simply wonderful! But think of our marvelous radios today.

Bet you still remember your first ride in a Pullman. It seemed the height of luxury then—but we hadn't dreamed of modern streamlined trains.

Making a good thing better is an old American custom! And it's an old custom of Kellogg's, world-famous makers of cereals. Over the last 25 years untold Americans have praised the goodness of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. But now a marvelous bran from one of the world's softest wheats gives ALL-BRAN new lightness, new crispness, new flavor!

If you haven't tasted this famous cereal recently, ask your grocer for the improved "golden soft" ALL-BRAN. It's just as effective as ever—but twice as delicious. To ward off constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, eat ALL-BRAN every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars."

Court Will Consider Whether Relief Aliens Can Become Citizens

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — The supreme court on Monday agreed to consider a case involving the issue of whether an alien can be denied American citizenship because he has accepted relief funds.

The issue arose on appeal of Louis Weber, denied citizenship at Los Angeles, after it was testified he had accepted relief for years. While Weber contended that this was the basis of denial, the ninth circuit court said he was denied citizenship because he was not attached to principles of government. The department of justice urged review to clarify the legal situation. Other court action included:

The Ford Motor Co. lost an appeal for review of a decision of the sixth circuit court upholding an order of the federal trade commission to cease advertising time payments in an alleged deceptive manner. For Ford Co., denying the charge, contended that its advertising was on the same basis as that of the federal housing administration.

Denied for lack of jurisdiction a petition of the state of Louisiana for permission to file suit against Claude Cummins, Clarence R. Birch, the Dredging Realizing Corp., the Standard Dredging Corp. and Abraham L. Shushan to recover on alleged fraudulent contracts. The court held one of the parties is a citizen of Louisiana, thus depriving it of jurisdiction. In this case the state claimed that the New Orleans levee-board, Shushan, a power in the long political machine, and others, conspired to cheat the state through a contract to construct an airport on the shores of Lake Pontchartrain. The state claimed Shushan received a bribe of nearly $130,000.

Denied a motion to withhold an order of last week denying the petition of William D. Pelley, silver shirt leader, for review of a District of Columbia court order on his extradition to North Carolina.

Production Will Be Much Extended

Report Being Drafted Calling For 200,000 Military Planes By July 1945

ABOUT 15,000 SHIPS HAVE BEEN DELIVERED

By HAROLD SLATER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A report is being drafted at the Office of Production Management, for President Roosevelt envisioning an airplane production expansion program through which more than 200,000 military airplanes will be ordered for delivery by July, 1945.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected soon to send a message to congress asking for billions more for planes, particularly four-motored bombers, as a result of the report, OPM sources said today.

According to word at the OPM, army, navy and lend-lease authorities will suggest that 25,000 more bombers be built than originally scheduled.

On June 25 of this year, OPM completed the first overall program for airplane output. Officials there said that it called for delivery of 79,000 planes by July, 1943, as follows:

For Great Britain and lend-lease nations, 26,000.

For the army, 42,500.

For the navy, 10,500.

Actually, OPM records showed about 15,000 of the ships have been delivered. Some 40,000 others are on order, and contracts for about 24,000 more are still to be let, it is reported. On top of this will come the new 25,000-bomber program calling for a total delivery of at least 104,000 planes by the middle of 1943.

To keep factories operating at a steady rate, it was pointed out, the government will have to place orders for 50,000 planes a year for 1944 and 1945, so that the total deliveries by the latter year would reach beyond 200,000.

Lawrence County Truckers Gather

Hear Talk On Insurance At Session Held On Monday Night

Safety measures which have increased yearly with the trucking industry have made the industry a desirable risk for insurance companies, the members of the Lawrence County Chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association were told Monday night at The Castleton. The speaker was Robert Campbell, of Pittsburgh, who substituted for Richard O'Brien of New York City who was unable to be present.

The speaker pointed out that in the early days of the industry the accidents made the industry a hazardous risk. Each year has seen a further development of safety until today the industry as a whole is operating with few accidents.

President Al Bauman asked for reports on the membership campaign and Team Captains J. Fred Clarke, Sam Mooney and Lou Orlando responded. State vice president, Paul W. Keely, reported on the recent meeting of the directors in Harrisburg and also urged the chapter to get back of the Community Chest drive even more than it has.

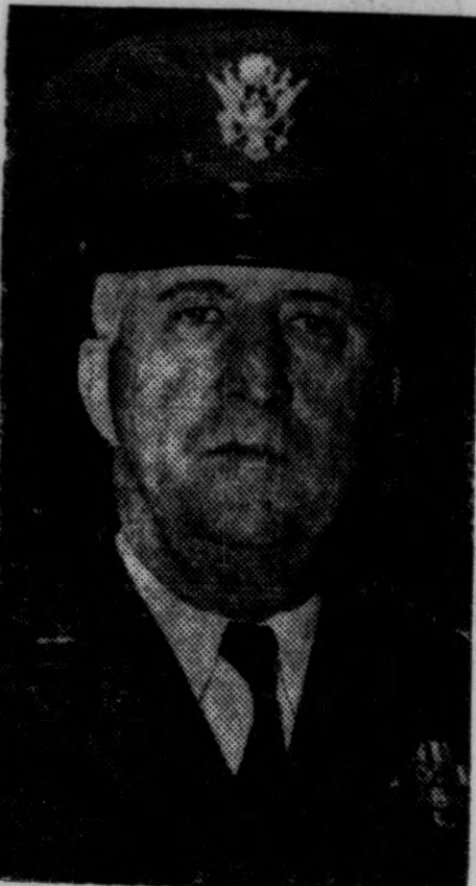

Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association was a guest of the truckers and spoke briefly. He told of a meeting of the Benjamin Franklin Highway Association recently and urged the truck association to get back of the movement to popularize the route as the short route between the Atlantic seaboard and the middle west.

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS STILL SERIOUS

It was stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital today that the condition of James G. Black, of 235 North Ray street, who was struck by an automobile driven by Lewis Dandrea, of R. F. D. No. 2, Volant, on the East Brook road, Sunday evening was still very serious. Black had a poor night and has been conscious but part of the time, having sustained severe head injuries.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Appendicitis is the most common surgical disease in children.

Most appendicitis deaths are among the very young or very old.

Appendicitis in children is essentially the same as in adults.

The progress of the disease is often more rapid in children.

There is greater difficulty in making a diagnosis in children.

History is more difficult to obtain, examination less complete.

As with adults, the danger from perforation is constant.

Especially with delay in operations or the use of purgatives.

A survey of 417 cases of acute appendicitis in children is cited.

There were no deaths where there had been no perforation.

Even with perforation there are progressively fewer deaths.

Such deaths in one hospital have dropped from 16 to 6 1/2 per cent.

New Bridge Floor Will Be Open Face Type When Finished

Workmen Going Ahead Rapidly With Work Of Rebuilding Cherry Street Bridge

Working of rebuilding the East Cherry street bridge over the Shenango river is going ahead rapidly at the present time. All of the old bridge floor has now been removed and the foundation portions of the structure are being reinforced at the present time.

When completed this bridge will have a new type floor, known as an open-face floor. In place of a solid floor, steel grating will be installed the length of the bridge.

According to an official of the construction company in charge of the work, this type of a floor is necessary to reduce the weight on the super-structure of the span. There are three bridges with this type floor in use in Oil City, it was learned, and they have proven to be quite satisfactory.

Campbell Has Five Veterans On Squad

Ohioans Will Try Hard To Upset New Castle's Mighty "Red Hurricane"

Friday

Campbell Has Never Defeated New Castle, Locals Somewhat Crippled Up

Campbell Memorial High football team will come to New Castle on Friday night with five veterans from the 1940 team on the roster and have ambitions of being the first team this season to upset the mighty New Castle High "Red Hurricane". Taggart stadium will see a big crowd at the kickoff slated for 8 o'clock.

The Ohio school has met New Castle twice before, both times at the stadium, and have been on the losing end both trips, but this season the Knapp coached machine has been "pointing" for New Castle. Last Friday the highly touted Warren High eleven had a hard time in eking out a 12 to 10 victory over the Memorials.

Locals Crippled Up
The New Castle team will take the field on Friday night in not too good shape. Zubkowsky, Parou, Masters and Peters are somewhat bruised up and may not start the game. Peters received a badly swollen jaw in the Washington game. Zubkowsky and Parou have been ailing for the past two or three weeks.

Head Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh had the squad out on the field last evening for a workout and will stress pass defense and blocking this week. Owing to the condition of many of the boys, there will not be any strenuous scrimmage sessions this week.

Visitors Well Fortified
Campbell will have in the lineup five boys who started the game here in 1940—Keich, a tackle, Cioffi, a guard, Barallaire, a halfback, Macceyko, a halfback and Fortner, a quarterback, the latter being the chap who tallied the Campbell touchdown here last season, the locals winning, however, 13 to 7.

New Castle will have in the event that Parou can play, only four veterans who began the Campbell game last year—Peters, Parou, Scarazzo and Lee.

Cowan was credited with developing the flying wedge and the technique of boxing the tackles.

Wampum Horse Show Gala Event

Large Crowd Attends Event Sponsored By Wampum Rotary Club, Last Night

OVER SIXTY FINE HORSES ENTERED

Horse lovers from all over western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio were present at the Wampum Rotary club horse show, which was staged at Pleasant Valley farm, just outside Wampum, Monday evening. There were entries in all the 18 classes, 62 horses competing for the handsome prizes and ribbons which were given in the different events.

Some magnificent specimens of horse flesh were exhibited, ridden by some extremely pretty girls. The event was postponed from Saturday because of the heavy rains which fell that day, but conditions last evening were ideal, and the huge crowd present enjoyed the exhibition under the floodlights. The Wampum Rotary club was warmly commended for its interest in staging such a successful affair.

Need Experience To Raise Poultry

Inexperienced Should Not Rush Into Poultry Business Expert Warns

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—City people and others inexperienced with poultry "shouldn't jump into the poultry business now in response to the government's call for increased egg production," H. A. Bittenbender, New York animal and poultry nutrition expert, declared here. Bittenbender asserted that "the increased production needed for Britain and domestic use can best be obtained by the established poultry keepers."

The current national emergency, he added, "has created new and serious problems for the poultry industry; even poultry keepers of long experience must make skillful adjustments based on a thorough knowledge of the science of poultry keeping."

Referring to problems of breeder-hatcherymen, Bittenbender said the national average of 62 chicks from every 100 eggs incubated could be increased to 75 or 80 chicks by better breeding, correct feeding, and proper management. He expressed the belief that the government's call for more eggs and poultry would accelerate the trend to greater efficiency in breeding and hatchery operations.

Greater attention to laying flock feeding and management would increase production by at least one dozen eggs for each of the 385 million chickens in the United States, he said.

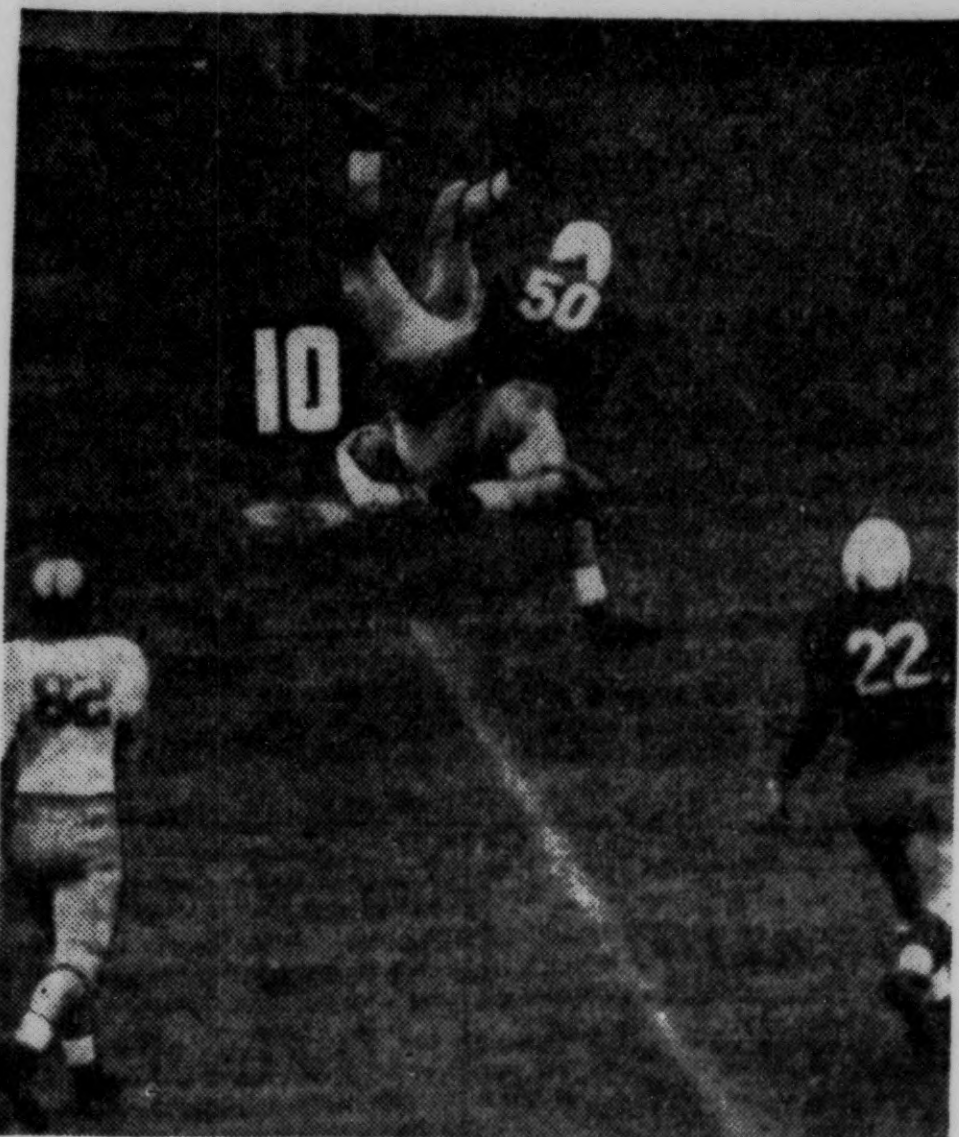

Bittenbender cautioned producers to avoid the hazards of overcrowding their houses as they sought to increase production. Overcrowding, he warned, "will impair flock health, reduce rather than increase egg production."

Duck hunting probably is the only sport which enjoys bad weather. On clear days the birds fly too high for effective gunning. Ceiling zero usually results in a full bag.

DEPENDS ON ATHLETE
Does an athlete produce best when he is mad, or composed? It all depends on the individual, according to billiard expert Otto Reisel, who admits he has to get worked up to play at top form.

Yale Upsets Cadet, But—

Trying to avoid being tackled or run out of bounds by Mosley (50), Yale center, Jere Maupin, Army halfback, wound up standing on his head, but still clinging to the ball. Maupin played a stellar role as the West Point eleven defeated Yale 20-7 before 56,000 spectators in New Haven, Conn.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sport Quickies:
Campbell Memorial, New Castle high's foe Friday night here, has yet to whip the "Canes." The Ohioans tried twice, losing 20-0 in 1933 and 13-7 last season. . . . The Bridenbaughs, by the way, have amassed 131 points against 19 for the opponents in the first seven struggles of the current season. . . .

WILLIE CLEONE, who saw action against the New York Americans, Sunday, played a bang up game. The ex-Cane star, performing for the Columbus Bulls, proved troublesome, especially to Tommy Harmon and John Kimbrough. . . . To H. B. New Castle high defeated Canton McKinley high in a spring football game in 1933. The score was 14-13. . . .

"Gabby" Hartnett reportedly is first in line for the Phillies managerial post. . . . According to Lewis Burton, New York scribe, "Lefty" Gomez may never pitch again. A shoulder ailment may be the reason. . . . By whipping Princeton, Saturday, Penn now has subjugated the "Big Three" of football, Yale and Harvard fell by the wayside earlier in the campaign. . . .

Two good bets for the players of the year: Tom Kuzma of Michigan and Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia. . . . Referee "Red" Friesell, who suffered a broken leg while officiating a professional game, isn't out a nickel. The National Football League pays the hospital bill and "Red" also collects full salary for the season. . . .

The two biggest games of the week-end pair Ohio State vs. Northwestern and Michigan vs. Minnesota.

Lem Franklin Wins By 'TKO'

Referee Stops Bout With Big Abe Simon In Fifth Round

SAMMY SECREET DEFEATS BERGER

By GERALD HEALEY
(International News Service Writer)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 21.—Joe Louis watch out!
There's a dusky Cleveland Negro named Lem Franklin coming mighty fast today with a torpedo right and a lightning left that last night sank ponderous Abe Simon at the Arena in five rounds.

The ebony Lemuel was hammering Abe along the ropes and Abe's arms were dropped to his side as Referee Joe Sedley of Cleveland awarded the fight to Franklin on a technical knockout.

Subsequently big Abe lumbered over to the radio and shot into the mike "they never should have stopped the fight."

He turned to his seconds and yelled the same thing, but he smiled when he said it.

Simon was slammed to the deck for a nine-count in the first round, another nine-count in the second and a nine-count in the fourth. Simon weighed 255 and Franklin 201.

Lem, trained by his papoos and only 24 years old, was tiring rapidly as the bout wore on into the third after slugging two Sunday rights at Abe in the first and second to drop him.

Simon Helpless
Using his weight to good advantage Abe appeared to be coming on until just before the bell ending the fourth when another right put Abe down.

Simon looked tired when he moved out for the fifth. Abe was nailed near his own corner and the fight was over in one minute and 34 seconds of the fifth.

Abe was draped over the ropes on his back, his arms down and his head bobbing when Sedley stopped the fight.

Louis took 13 rounds in Detroit last winter to do what Franklin did last night in five.

A crowd of 13,256, largest in Cleveland history for boxing, paid $31.623.80.

Sammy Secreet of Pittsburgh defeated Max Berger of Montreal in ten rounds.

Five Major Games On Week's Grid Card Here

Five major games involving county elevens adorn this week's pigskin rodeo.
The County Class B sports scene reaches one of its peak marks on Friday afternoon when Shenango Township lines up for its annual clash with Union Township High. The contest, listed for Union field, starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Represented by one of its classiest combinations in several seasons, the East New Castle aggregation hopes to take the county title. Semansky and Stollita rank as two of the smoothest grid performers in the county.

To date, Shenango has won two victories against a pair of losses. By hurdling Union, Shenango would have only to bowl over Bessemer to cop the banner.

Union's hopes of victory hinge on Walt Jaskolska's line plunging, plus the stellar performance of Kline, Dudzensky, Snelzek and Pattison. Union looked impressive in holding a strong Zelenopole outfit to a 6-6 draw.

While Union's chances of nailing the coronet suffered a setback due to a loss to Bessemer, the Scotland Lancers still have a chance of sharing the crown. If Union succeeds in whipping Shenango and the East New Castle eleven in turn flattens Bessemer, the local race will be as complicated as a cubistic puzzle.

Campbell Here Friday
Friday night New Castle High's gallant combo hopes to move nearer to an undefeated season by brushing past Campbell Memorial at Taggart stadium. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

Ellwood City High's undefeated eleven meets its stiffest opponent of the season Friday evening when the Wolverines face Aliquippa High on the Quips' field. Ellwood has pocketed five triumphs to date. A tie with Butler is the lone black mark.

Saturday afternoon, Bessemer High plays host to Sciencerville while Westminster college hopes to spoil Thiel college's perfect record at Greenville.

The Ben Franklin junior high "Patriots" football team will play the Butler junior high eleven at Taggart stadium on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. It was announced today by Head Coach Austin Cowmagedon.

The "Patriots" have gone undefeated so far this year, but have one little blemish on the record, a scoreless tie with the Sharon junior high eleven at Sharon.

The big battle of the season will be played on Thursday, October 30, with the Franklin boys tangling with the George Washington high machine for the junior high championship. This game will be played at the stadium.

Skeet-Trap Shoot Wednesday Evening

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will sponsor another skeet and trap shoot on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the New Castle fair grounds.

Because so many persons gathered for the last shoot, the affair will start earlier. Women are fast becoming interested in this exciting sport.

Farmer Fatally Burned In Home

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Oct. 21.—Burns received when his farm house burned down about 10 miles south of Erie today had proved fatal to John Schon, 62, of Waterford, R. D. 1.

The fire, believed to have started from a lantern in an adjoining woodshed, trapped Schon in the living room. A neighbor, Joseph Franer, and two friends, Clark Morgan and Roger Harrington, broke down the door and carried the man out of the blazing building.

The home was burned to the ground. Loss was estimated at about $5,000.

Ellwood Chest Drive Launched

Hope To Reach First Report Goal Of Campaign Wednesday

NEED $25,000 TO PASS CHEST GOAL

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Community Chest headquarters reported $1421.10 turned in on the first day of the drive. It will take $3,588.90 more to shoot the first bullet out of the gun at the $25,000 airplane goal and Chest officials are pulling for the homes to give their just share to shoot that first bullet by Wednesday.

Everyone in Ellwood City is not giving their share to this drive to take care of human needs and the good neighbor policy must be put in effect immediately in order to assure all the agencies that they will be properly taken care of.

Solicitors are keeping a record of all citizens reasons for not contributing to the chest so that it might be used when necessary in times when they or their family need Community help.

Chest officials are confident today that the house to house drive will bring better results due to the heads of the house opening their purse strings and giving more liberally.

"Who knows when the addition and maintenance of the hospital will save a life in their family, who knows when they will need food, clothes or coal for their family—who knows when their boy will be called to the army and be glad to have the recreation available to him through the U.S.O.—who knows when their boys and girls will want to join scout activities—who knows when the welfare of a friend will be taken care of through the Salvation Army—who knows when the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will aid a young man or woman to lead a straight and Christian life—who knows when a relative or friend will need help on the war torn battlefields of Europe through the British War Relief Agency?"

All of these are agencies in the chest and if they were all to make separate drives the average person would give $15.00 but when it is a nine agency drive in one, some seem to think a dollar or two will take care of it. It will not and we as Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood City must awaken today and do our share for the Ellwood City Community Chest.

All chest workers and captains are urged to attend a special Chest meeting at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Municipal building.

It is important that everyone connected with the drive be on hand as special instructions concerning the drive will be discussed.

Past Noble Grands Entertained Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Amidst very clever hallowe'en decorations members of the Past Noble Grands club of the Rebekah Lodge were agreeably entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Rabberman, Ellwood-New Castle road, with Mrs. Emma Bente and Mrs. Emma Van Gorder as associate hostesses.

Twenty-six members and one guest, Mrs. Rankin Steele, participated in the evening's pleasant dinner with nice prizes going to the award winners.

Attractive gifts were presented to Mrs. William Travis, Mrs. Harry Shirey and Mrs. Walter Blatchford by their "Becky Pals". The hostesses served a most delicious lunch at the close of the evening.

Another meeting will be held on Monday, November 17, at the home of Mrs. Jesse Dougherty with Mrs. Charles Cunningham and Mrs. Sarah Treese as co-hostesses.

Randolph Post Names Committee Chairmen

American Legion Group Gets Off To Fine Start Under New Commander

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Under the direction of the new Commander S. R. Berstler, the J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion started the new year in fine fashion last night, when the regular meeting was held at the Sixth street hall. There was a good attendance of members.

Commander Berstler named the following committee chairmen: Beaver county, Ralph Little; finance, Ralph Conner; membership, Dan Evans; relay, Ernest Reinheimer and Oscar Bair; Americanism and education, Charles Baird; Sons of Legion, E. E. Stevenson; junior athletics, Walter Simpson; service and welfare, Ralph Little; house, Russell Koch; social, Herman Person; senior rifle team, E. J. Reinheimer; junior rifle team, Carl Shirley; publicity, Robert W. Taylor.

Grave registration, George Wilson; ways and means, Loyal Wilson; hospital, E. J. Reinheimer; firing squad, Charles Baird; national defense, D. E. Cain; home defense, Earl Bark; community chest, Wayne Baird; listening post, Ralph Little; color bearers, John Graham and Gus Epler; and mess sergeants, Ralston Zeigler and Laurence French.

An invitation to attend a Hallowe'en party to be held by the Legion Auxiliary on Friday, October 31, was accepted. Everyone is to be masked.

The annual Armistice Day Memorial service will be held on Sunday evening, November 9, at the Lincoln high school auditorium. Rev. Howard Foch, pastor of the Immanuel Reformed church will be the speaker.

The Post agreed to give a sizable donation to the Community Chest fund.

Laurence French made his annual presentation of a beautiful hand-carved gavel to the new commander.

Refreshments followed after which members departed to meet again on Monday evening, November 3, at the hall.

Head Coach Thurman F. Croft is expecting a mighty hard game for the Wolverines. After winning six games and being undefeated, the Aliquippa high team was taken out of the AA race last Friday night when they received their worst defeat in years at the hands of their greatest rivals, Ambridge high, who emerged with a 21 to 0 victory. Croft expects the Quips to come back fighting mad this week.

With only a scoreless tie to mar their record, the locals have five victories to their credit. They have three victories in the Beaver Valley championship race and are expected to put up a mighty stiff battle to stay in the running.

"Far from satisfied" was Croft's comment on Ellwood's performance last week against Midland, whom they defeated 13-0. Ellwood's slowness and blocking deficiencies are due to the inexperience of the players, he believes.

DePuga is the main stay of the valley team, and he has scored most of their points from baffling double reverses and spinners.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Final arrangements for the annual reformation service to be held on Sunday evening, October 26, at the local Trinity Lutheran church were made by members of the Church Brotherhood last evening when the regular meeting was held at the church.

Last night's meeting was attended by 15 members with the devotion being led by Henry Seetch. A report of the Synodical convention held last week at Beaver Falls was given by Arthur Dambaugh and Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck.

Friday, November 7, was announced as the date of the annual father and son banquet with arrangements to be in charge of Samuel Weisz.

A social hour followed with Howard Stauffer and his committee serving an appetizing lunch. Another meeting will be held on Monday, November 17.

After a social hour, Mrs. Mabel McElwain and her committee served an appetizing lunch. Another meeting will be held on Monday, November 3.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Graham, of Wurttemberg.

Another Wurttemberg youth's horse, May Cloud, owned by Elvin Smith, won the first prize in the musical chair contest and the third prize in the "night gown" race.

Attractive gifts were presented to Mrs. William Travis, Mrs. Harry Shirey and Mrs. Walter Blatchford by their "Becky Pals". The hostesses served a most delicious lunch at the close of the evening.

Young, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Young, of Ellport, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Olivet Presbyterian church, at Prospect Park, Philadelphia suburb.

For her wedding, the bride was attractively attired in a beige dress with brown accessories and she wore a corsage of tulle and roses. Her sister, Miss Hannah Yeakle, was maid of honor and chose a becoming aqua dress with dubonnet accessories.

After the fun of guessing identities of the mummies, a meeting was held with the devotion in charge of Mrs. Bessie Guldbransen and the business directed by Mrs. Fred Wehman.

Mrs. Mary Bentrim directed a period of games with the award winners being Mrs. H. F. Fleischer, Mrs. George Blank, Mrs. Guldbransen, Mrs. A. W. Klindienst and Mrs. Wehman.

Also Discuss Plans For Americanism Parade Planned For Next Week

The division discussed the housing priority for Ellwood City which allows houses of $7500.00 to be built exclusive of the lot. President Howard Jones instructed all trades stores to get their priority numbers if they have not already done so in order to insure prompt delivery of materials.

STOCKS Shows Recovery

Small Gains Are Recorded By Stocks During Morning Trading

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The stock market resumed its recovery movement today and a few issues were up a point or more, but gains generally were limited to fractions.

Chrysler, and Proctor & Gamble were among representative stocks to advance a point or more. Large fractional gains were chalked up by U. S. Steel, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Du Pont, Consolidated Aircraft and Sears Roebuck.

Coppers, chemicals, rubbers, rails and farm implements generally were slightly above previous closing levels.

There were several laggers. Westinghouse broke a point to a new 1941 bottom, but recovered later for a small net gain. Public Service of N. J. and National Can also dropped into new low ground.

Commodities rallied sharply, with wheat jumping almost 5 cents a bushel. Cotton ran up about $1.50 a bale. Bonds held within narrow limits.

Duke And Duchess Arrive In New York

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The attack on the U. S. S. Kearny "has nothing to do with Great Britain at all," the Duke of Windsor commented Monday as he met the New York press shortly after his arrival in Manhattan with his American wife.

In town for a five-day visit, the duke and the Baltimore-born duchess, agreed to pose for newsreels and still photographers today but begged off a full dress meeting with reporters until Tuesday.

However, one reporter held out a morning newspaper with its headlines telling of the missing and injured in the Kearny attack.

"What's America's next step?" the reporter, representing a British newspaper, asked.

"That's up to America. It has nothing to do with Great Britain at all," the duke answered. As reporters crowded the former king of England into a small corner for further comment, he smilingly threw up his hands and urged:

"Please wait until tomorrow. We've just arrived. Give us a few hours."

"Right out of the horse's mouth," he promised with mock solemnity.

Expresses Thanks

For the newsreels, the duke expressed thanks for America's aid to Britain saying:

"I trust you will all realize how much these generous and valuable forms of support are appreciated in my country."

The duchess spirited into a corner by girl reporters, warmed up on the subject of her welfare interests in Nassau, then suddenly bit her lip and exclaimed, "I have so little to say I had better save the rest for Tuesday."

She did add one more comment with a slight lift of her head.

"I am not so much interested in clothes as I have been given credit for," she said. "I am much more interested in my welfare work."

The duke ended the brief session with the reporters by requesting that the session Tuesday be termed a "general discussion" rather than a press conference. "There will be no 'conference'," he said.

The duchess wore an army blue wool dress trimmed with black jet, a sable scarf, black slippers and black gloves. She carried a black bag but did not wear a hat.

The duke wore a grey sharkskin double-breasted suit, grey shirt and blue checked tie.

For the duke it was a first visit to New York in 17 years.

GARAGE AFIRE

Firemen were called to a vacant property at 212 Laurel boulevard at 10:30 o'clock Monday night, where a small fire was found in the garage. Painters had been working at the place and stored some oily rags in the garage in the rear, which are believed to have caught fire from spontaneous combustion. The damage was small.

Armando Revoredo, Peruvian air attaché in Washington, declared "to hell with the good neighbor policy." The planes were seized for shipment to Russia as they were about to be shipped to South America from New York. "I no longer wish to be assigned to a government which has done such an unfriendly act," he asserted.

Rowland Recalls World War Flying

Best Now To Get Ready For Anything, He Tells Rotarians

America can well get ready for any eventuality in these days of defense preparation, Roger W. Rowland told New Castle Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in The Castleton yesterday.

The president of the New Castle Refractories Co., and former secretary of property and supplies in the cabinet of Governor James, guest of honor for the day, declared:

"While it might be possible at the moment that we have little to worry about here, you know that three or four years is a short time nowadays, and the picture could change somewhat."

Rowland had been talking of the possibility of long-range bombers reaching American shores, and he had quoted a reliable authority on aviation as telling him that "when you put on top of all the progress of the past 10 years the progress that will surely come in the next three or four or five long-range bombing and things like that are within the realm of possibility."

The speaker gave over much of his time to a vivid comparison of World War I fighting aircraft to that of England and the dictators are now employing, and he said that back in those days "a flight from London to Paris was something."

Rowland was a member of the First Pursuit Group and saw service in many of the historic offensives. He was presented to the club by Thomas W. Solomon, chairman of the club's program committee.

Rotary's $100 And Lad's Quarter Give Chest Fund Boost

The New Castle Rotary club and a sixth grade pupil at Pollock school helped swell the Community Chest total today.

Meeting in The Castleton on Monday, the Rotarians voted unanimously to give the fund a $100 gift. The club always makes this donation.

At the Chest office on the Public Square, young Paul DiReco, the sixth grader, as ardent a fund supporter as one could find, walked in and laid a bright quarter on the desk of Mrs. Winifred Cooney, the executive secretary.

Said Mrs. Cooney: "Things like that impress you Young Paul said he wanted to give something and he didn't know who he should give it to. He said he wished he had a lot of money and could give more."

Roosevelt says the Russian constitution gives to religion the same protection ours does. Evidently the Reds ignore their constitution, too.
